Customer Reviews

I have bought 3 handwriting books for my daughter, who is in 2nd grade and this is by far the best book that I have seen. The activities are focus on positive statements that help to boost her self teem and she loves it because there is a coloring activity and the end of each lesson, which makes it fun.

This is a very simple handwriting book - no gimmicks -- just straight forward copy work. I bought this for my 8 year old (homeschool 2nd grade) since his handwriting needed some work desperately. I've seen a huge improvement even without doing everything the book says (it says to do a lesson every single day without taking a day off). It's great and he can do it himself each day without much input from mom.

This is a great book for hand writing as far as letter and positive words. If you are looking for writing practice in sentence form this book is not what you are looking for. Its great if your child works in it everyday.

I bought this book for my first grader that was getting some letters and numbers backwards. This book is more than just lines and single letters, and I really liked the handful of extra drawing activities. I would definitely buy this again.

I normally don't write reviews, but I have to admit I am very happy with this book. My daughter who is 4 is fascinated with this book, even my two older love playing with their little sister and coloring with this book. I also like the fact that the sentences use in the book are very fun and positive. I will totally recommend this book.

This book is beautifully put together. It helps children improve handwriting in a fun-oriented way, and at the same time, it helps them to develop a positive outlook on life with the repetition of positive words and affirmations. Peggy McColl, New York Times Best Selling Author

Hard to love a physical therapy item, but this does the job when your occupational therapist says you have to learn how to write with your non-dominant hand.
